

Report it

- It is important that you retain information regarding the batch number, best before /expiry date and the place of purchase for your pet food, this is important information to provide to manufacturers whenever you wish to report a problem with a food.